

Dear Colleague,

You are invited to the next BPW Foundation Webinar: Dangerous Career Choices. As someone who has participated in BPW programming before, you are entitled to the discounted rate of $10 for this webinar.

We look forward to your participation. This webinar is co-sponsored with BPW/USA and The Balanced Worker Project.

Dangerous Career Choices:
What Choices Affect Our Careers and Pay?
April 25, 2008
1 to 2:15 PM Eastern

What does new research say about the critical choices women make that can impact their career advancement opportunities? What's happening with the glass ceiling? What are the financial implications for working women who can't shatter the glass ceiling? How did the women's work choices turn into a highway metaphor ("on-ramping" and "off-ramping")? What are the effects of "on-ramping" and "off-ramping"? What should managers and employees be aware of? As a working woman, what industries in which employers provide the greatest equity? What can managers do to retain highly-skilled employees?

Registration is Open. $10 if a member of BPW Foundation Network, BPW/USA, or Balanced Worker Project Network. All others $29.99. Women veterans can register for a fee waiver as part of BPW Foundation's women veteran scholarship program.

Speakers

Philip Cohen, Associate Professor of Sociology and Director of Graduate Studies, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Judith Finer Freedman, Founder, The Balanced Worker Project
