

Millennials in the Driver Seat: Smooth Ride or Collision Course?

Judith Finer Freedman, a work-life researcher and consultant will be presenting tips and techniques for how law firms can integrate the new generation of associates (the "Millennials") entering the doors of their practices.

In her discussion, "Maximizing the Millennial Mindset," she will focus on the benefits and challenges that millennials bring to workplace protocol; how to recognize generational communication issues; how to effectively maximize their skill base; how to develop practical programs that will resonate and foster loyalty; and communication suggestions for recruiting lawyers.
